The 2020-2021 school year has been a particularly trying one for all school systems. For Baltimore County Public Schools, the year was even more challenging due to a catastrophic ransomware attack in November 2020. As the school system began transitioning to hybrid -in-person learning in March 2021, BCPS introduced a series of very popular Instagram posts that shared appreciation for the staff -- many of them working behind the scenes -- working to make the return to in-person instruction possible. The series has highlighted the work of school nurses, transportation workers, facilities staff, and food and nutrition services workers and educators and school leaders.
