PCOE CTE, Roseville
Instructor: Carey
Shannon

When high school students learn to make Public Service Announcements (PSAs) mental health, they learn a lot of other things: reducing a topic to a single message, how to make and edit video, how to work as a team, and why camera angles matter. Students also begin to understand reasons to pursue a career in the field of psychology.

SVPA Committee:

Activity
38 students from two high school classes learned about projective tests through a creative and educational art project of making inkblots.
