Fans mourn basketball legend

By Emily McCall

California Baptist University’s Recreation Center hosted the sophomore Men’s Health Event Feb 4-6 in the gym. This event provides male students at CBU with the opportunity to learn about different resources on campus related to maintaining a healthy lifestyle and to try products and services offered by local businesses.

“We want to make sure you are aware of any issue they might have,” said Francisco Sanchez, senior marketing major at California Baptist University. “This event provides male students the opportunity to learn about different venues that are more geared toward health.”

In addition, he helped students use a machine that measures body composition so students could better understand their current health and set health goals for the future.

“People are trying to find a balance between work, studies and life,” Harris said.

Billie Eilish sets record — The young singer-songwriter becomes first woman to win all four “Grammy awards.”

New coronavirus deemed public health emergency

By Emily McCall

The World Health Organization (WHO) declared the coronavirus outbreak a public health emergency of international concern at its Jan. 30 meeting.

Case of a new coronavirus begins to appear in Wuhan, China in December 2019. Since then, China’s National Health Commission has reported nearly 81,000 cases and more than 2,000 deaths related to coronavirus within China and other nations, including the United States.

“Daily life has changed dramatically where we live now,” said Paul Lowe, a marketing major at California Baptist University. “We live in Guangzhou, China, which is a very crowded downtown area. Local government has mandated that we wear masks wherever we go outside our apartment in public areas around other people. In efforts to slow the virus from spreading, local restaurants and bars cannot open up to serve patrons and can only provide food for limited deliveries.”

“We have felt very fortunate to not have had any contact,” said Lowe. The United States has confirmed 14 coronavirus cases nationally, prompting officials to declare a public health emergency Jan. 31. The U.S. government evacuated 155 passengers from Wuhan Jan. 29 and brought them to March Air Reserve Base in Riverside.

The government maintained a two-week federal quarantine for those evacuated, who still remain at this base. “To limit the spread of the virus, the United States will also begin to institute travel restrictions. Any foreign nationals who visited China within 14 days before arriving in the United States will not be allowed to enter the country, and U.S. citizens returning from Wuhan will be quarantined for 14 days,” said Marten, senior marketing major at California Baptist University. “Any resources returning from other parts of China will participate in health screenings and may be required to undergo a self-monitored quarantine.”

“At this time, reports say that the coronavirus is being more effectively contained in the community in the United States,” said Bethany Benetello, a marketing major at California Baptist University.

“We should, however, be very cautious about this virus,” she said.

Men’s health night tradition returns to Rec Center

By Emily McCall

California Baptist University’s Recreation Center hosted the sophomore Men’s Health Event Feb 4-6 in the gym. This event provides male students at CBU with the opportunity to learn about different resources on campus related to maintaining a healthy lifestyle and to try products and services offered by local businesses.

“We want to make sure you are aware of any issue they might have,” said Francisco Sanchez, senior marketing major at California Baptist University. “This event provides male students the opportunity to learn about different venues that are more geared toward health.”

In addition, he helped students use a machine that measures body composition so students could better understand their current health and set health goals for the future.

“People are trying to find a balance between work, studies and life,” Harris said.

Fans mourn basketball legend

By Emily McCall

California Baptist University’s Recreation Center hosted the sophomore Men’s Health Event Feb 4-6 in the gym. This event provides male students at CBU with the opportunity to learn about different resources on campus related to maintaining a healthy lifestyle and to try products and services offered by local businesses.

“We want to make sure you are aware of any issue they might have,” said Francisco Sanchez, senior marketing major at California Baptist University. “This event provides male students the opportunity to learn about different venues that are more geared toward health.”

In addition, he helped students use a machine that measures body composition so students could better understand their current health and set health goals for the future.

“People are trying to find a balance between work, studies and life,” Harris said.

New coronavirus deemed public health emergency

By Emily McCall

The World Health Organization (WHO) declared the coronavirus outbreak a public health emergency of international concern at its Jan. 30 meeting.

Case of a new coronavirus begins to appear in Wuhan, China in December 2019. Since then, China’s National Health Commission has reported nearly 81,000 cases and more than 2,000 deaths related to coronavirus within China and other nations, including the United States.

“Daily life has changed dramatically where we live now,” said Paul Lowe, a marketing major at California Baptist University. “We live in Guangzhou, China, which is a very crowded downtown area. Local government has mandated that we wear masks wherever we go outside our apartment in public areas around other people. In efforts to slow the virus from spreading, local restaurants and bars cannot open up to serve patrons and can only provide food for limited deliveries.”

“We have felt very fortunate to not have had any contact,” said Lowe. The United States has confirmed 14 coronavirus cases nationally, prompting officials to declare a public health emergency Jan. 31. The U.S. government evacuated 155 passengers from Wuhan Jan. 29 and brought them to March Air Reserve Base in Riverside.

The government maintained a two-week federal quarantine for those evacuated, who still remain at this base. “To limit the spread of the virus, the United States will also begin to institute travel restrictions. Any foreign nationals who visited China within 14 days before arriving in the United States will not be allowed to enter the country, and U.S. citizens returning from Wuhan will be quarantined for 14 days,” said Marten, senior marketing major at California Baptist University. “Any resources returning from other parts of China will participate in health screenings and may be required to undergo a self-monitored quarantine.”

“At this time, reports say that the coronavirus is being more effectively contained in the community in the United States,” said Bethany Benetello, a marketing major at California Baptist University.

“We should, however, be very cautious about this virus,” she said.

Men’s health night tradition returns to Rec Center

By Emily McCall

California Baptist University’s Recreation Center hosted the sophomore Men’s Health Event Feb 4-6 in the gym. This event provides male students at CBU with the opportunity to learn about different resources on campus related to maintaining a healthy lifestyle and to try products and services offered by local businesses.

“We want to make sure you are aware of any issue they might have,” said Francisco Sanchez, senior marketing major at California Baptist University. “This event provides male students the opportunity to learn about different venues that are more geared toward health.”

In addition, he helped students use a machine that measures body composition so students could better understand their current health and set health goals for the future.

“People are trying to find a balance between work, studies and life,” Harris said.