DECEMBER 12, 2021
A car sits among the remains of a destroyed house after a tornado in Dawson Springs, Kentucky.

AP PHOTO
MICHAEL CLUBB
DECEMBER 11, 2021
Beth May walks around her backyard with her chickens after her house was hit by a tornado in Bowling Green, Kentucky.

AP PHOTO
MICHAEL CLUBB

DECEMBER 12, 2021
Destroyed cars are among debris after a tornado in Dawson Springs, Kentucky.

AP PHOTO
MICHAEL CLUBB

DECEMBER 15, 2021
A man clears bricks and debris off the roof of a building that was destroyed by an overnight tornado in Mayfield, Kentucky. The tornado leveled much of Mayfield and other parts of western Kentucky.

PHOTO BY JACK WEAVER

DECEMBER 11, 2021
Members of the Bowling Green Fire Department dig through the remains of a house destroyed by a tornado in Bowling Green, Kentucky.

AP PHOTO/MICHAEL CLUBB
DECEMBER 15, 2021

Rubble of destroyed businesses is shown along West Broadway Street in Mayfield, Kentucky.

PHOTO BY JACK WEAVER
DECEMBER 11, 2021
Debris from damaged homes is scattered throughout a neighborhood following a tornado on Creekwood Avenue in Bowling Green, Kentucky.

PHOTO BY JACK WEAVER

DECEMBER 12, 2021
A family photo is among the debris inside of a house after a tornado in Dawson Springs, Kentucky.

AP PHOTO/MICHAEL CLUBB

DECEMBER 11, 2021
Luke Schackle moves debris from a tornado inside his parents-in-law's house in Bowling Green, Kentucky.

AP PHOTO/MICHAEL CLUBB
DECEMBER 15, 2021
President Joe Biden surveys tornado damage with Mayfield mayor Kathy O’Nan in Mayfield, Kentucky.

PHOTOS BY JACK WEAVER

DECEMBER 15, 2021
Photos of tornado victims and flowers hang on a memorial in front of the damaged Graves County Courthouse in Mayfield, Kentucky.

DECEMBER 15, 2021
A woman adds roses to a memorial honoring tornado victims in front of the damaged Graves County Courthouse in Mayfield, Kentucky.